

Beckman Production Services Announces Its New Partnership with Northern Production Company

SCF Partners' Fund VII investment, Beckman Production Services, is pleased to announce its newly formed partnership with Northern Production Company of Gillette, WY.

Northern Production Co. is a leading well service company in the Powder River Basin. For over 40 years, Northern has provided completion, workover, plugging and abandonment services to the oil and gas industry. Northern operates a fleet of 24 well service rigs with ancillary equipment and one plugging and cementing unit/system to service oil and gas operations in Wyoming and Montana.

The newly formed Beckman-Northern partnership will allow Northern Production Co. to continue to grow and better accommodate the increased unconventional activity in the Powder River Basin.

Beckman-Northern combined will have over 100 well service rigs across seven locations. Other Wyoming operations include J&R Well Service and R&S Well Service of Powell, WY. The partnership will continue to look for strategic partnerships in other key geographic regions throughout the U.S.

Danny Cagle, President and CEO of Beckman Production Services, commented "Our team is excited to partner with Northern Production Company and the development opportunities that the new relationship presents. Don and his team have built a premier company over the past 40 years. They have an excellent safety record and provide superb service to their clients."

Don Schuh, President of Northern Production Co. added "We at Northern Production Co. are excited to partner with Beckman Production Services. I am extremely proud of what the employees, past and present, have accomplished with Northern Production Co. and look forward to our future opportunities and our customers' future successes."

David Baldwin, Managing Director of SCF Partners commented "Northern Production Co. is one of the premier well servicing contractors in the United States. Don has built a terrific company with unique approaches to safety, quality, field service, and employee training. We are also excited that he and several key members of Northern Production Company's deep and talented management team have become partners in the combined Beckman-Northern platform."
